

The Department of Earth and Environment at Florida International University (earthenvironment.fiu.edu) is seeking applicants for an Open Rank (Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor) position in Sea Level Rise/Climate Change. Applicants who work on any of the physical or social-ecological processes that drive or result from rising seas or a warming climate are encouraged to apply. As a Department that includes geoscientists, atmospheric scientists, ecologists, and social scientists, we seek an outstanding candidate with an aptitude for working across disciplines. The successful candidate will be expected to maintain an externally funded research program, supervise graduate students, teach undergraduate classes, and develop graduate courses in his/her area of expertise. In addition to Departmental responsibilities, the person selected will also have the opportunity to interact with FIU's new Sea Level Solutions Center (slsc.fiu.edu), a multidisciplinary, university-wide collaborative hub within the Institute for Water and the Environment.

Qualified candidates are encouraged to apply for Position 70029908 (Job Opening ID 510494) at facultycareers.fiu.edu and attach a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and statement of teaching philosophy and research interests in a single PDF file. Candidates will be requested to provide names and contact information for at least three references, who will be contacted as determined by the search committee. To receive full consideration, applications and required materials should be received by December 4, 2015. Review will continue until position is filled.
